2. Reading: The Mystery of the Missing Necklace

Text

When Detective Holmes arrived at the manor, the front door was locked from the inside. "The thief must have escaped through the window," he said, pointing to the broken glass on the floor. However, the garden was muddy, and there were no footprints outside. "Wait," said Holmes. "If there are no footprints, he can't have left through the garden. He might have hidden inside the house!" Suddenly, a noise came from the chimney. "He could have tried to climb up the chimney!" shouted the policeman. Indeed, they found a man covered in soot. He should have thought of a better escape plan.

Questions:

- Why did Holmes think the thief escaped through the window initially?
- What proved that the thief didn't leave through the garden?
- Where was the thief actually hiding?
- What is the criticism about the thief's plan?

5. Writing Model Answers

Level 1: Basic

Dear Sarah, I am so sorry I forgot your birthday. I was very busy at school and I made a mistake. I feel terrible. I want to take you to dinner to make it up.

Level 2: Intermediate

Dear John, I am writing to apologise for missing your birthday party. I must have been so stressed with exams that I completely forgot the date. I feel awful about it. I should have written it in my calendar. Let me treat you to lunch this weekend.

Level 3: Advanced

Dear Emily, Please accept my sincerest apologies for forgetting your birthday. It was incredibly thoughtless of me. I have been overwhelmed with work lately, but that is no excuse. I must have lost track of time. I deeply regret hurting your feelings and I hope you can forgive me. I would love to make it up to you with a special gift.

Listening Script

(Narrator giving an account)

"I had a terrible day yesterday. I missed my flight to London. I woke up late because my alarm didn't go off; I must have forgotten to set it. Then, I couldn't find my passport; I might have left it in my other jacket. When I finally got a taxi, there was heavy traffic. I should have taken the metro instead. I arrived at the airport just as the plane was taking off. I can't have been that unlucky!"
