Today, I would like to talk about music, human rights, and the future.

Music plays an important role in people's lives. Some people prefer calm music such as classical or jazz because it helps them relax, while others enjoy energetic music like rock or pop. In my opinion, people's music preferences reflect their emotions and personality. For example, people who like meaningful lyrics usually enjoy music with strong messages.

Human rights are basic rights that everyone should have. Every child has the right to education, health services, and protection. In many countries, governments try to improve equal opportunities, especially for disabled people and children. However, there are still problems in some parts of the world, and people need to be more aware of these issues.

Looking at the future, I believe technology will change our lives deeply. Driverless cars will probably become common, and there won't be many petrol cars anymore. I think air pollution is going to decrease because of renewable energy. In the future, cyber games will also be more realistic. First, players will choose their avatars, then they will follow instructions to complete tasks in virtual worlds.
